THE DEBT OF VIRGINIA. Virginia's debt, like that of Maryland, was contracted for the construction of works of internal improvement. The James River and Kanawha and other canals, and various railroads and turnpikes, represented its expenditure, and the interest upon it was regularly paid even during the war, and until the collapse of the Confederacy. The fault, according to a writer in the New York Tribune, who seems to speak with official familiarity, is due to the following causes: First, the destruction of a large portion of the State's basis of credit by emancipation and other results of the war; Second, the division of the State and the creation of West Virginia out of one-third of the territory of Virginia, and the inability of the two States to agree upon the proportion of the debt each should assume; Third, mismanagement of the State's assets, which, if properly used, might have been made to reduce the principal so as to have rendered it practicable to pay the interest; Fourth, the passing of the "Funding bill," the compounding of long over-due interest, and the issuing of bonds having self-collectable coupons attached; Fifth, the depreciation of the value of lands, by a succession of bad crops, and the absence of buyers, while thousands of acres were being forced into the market by judgments of the courts on private indebtedness contracted anterior to secession; Sixth, the reduction of the State assessments in part consequent upon the decrease of the value of lands and in part consequent upon every county desiring to bear as little as possible of the public burden -The assessed valuation of the property of Virginia declined from $657,021,336 in 1860 to $365,439,917 in 1870, the partition of West Virginia cutting off the assessed value in 1870 of $140,538,273; but that State has up to the present time refused to assume its proportion of the old State debt. This led to a virtual repudiation, $15,239,370.74 having been assigned by the Virginia Legislature to West Virginia as her portion of the debt, the recognized debt of Virginia amounting to $30,478,741.49. As to the fifteen odd millions assigned to West Virginia, the Virginia Legislature resolutely refused to make any provisions for its payment, declaring that in the division of the Commonwealth, West Virginia having one-third the territory and population, is bound to assume one-third of the dcbt, so that unless West Virginia recognizes the obligation that portion of the debt never will be paid. Of the remaining debt of $30,478,741.49, $20,278,730.07 was funded under the act of March 30, 1871, popularly known as the "Funding bill," and is in coupon bonds, with coupons receivable for taxes attached. It was soon found that these coupons came into the Treasury to so great an amount that the actual money revenue would not suffice for the support of the Government. To obviate this difficulty the Legislature directed that nothing but "gold, silver or currency" should be received for taxes, which act the Supreme Court declared to be unconstitutional, so that this portion of the debt constitutes a preferred class, and the bonds bring a ready sale at from 85 to 90 cents on the dollar. The remaining portion of the debt, except a portion

In this condition of affairs, with a rate of taxation which is now and has been for several years 50 cents upon the $100, and although the expenses of government are kept down to $1,100.000 per annum, the deficit per annum is about $650,000.

which had already been funded under an act passed in 1861, was funded in bonds issued under an amended funding act, by which the coupons were not made receivable for taxes.

At the last session of the Virginia Legislature a joint resolution was passed authorizing the Governor and Treasurer "to confer with said creditors, looking to a further adjustment of the State debt upon a basis fair and equitable alike to the State and its creditors, and report the result of said conference to the next General Assembly, with such recommendations as they deem advisable." This conference is to take place upon the 10th of November next, and will be an important meeting. Governor Kemper is collecting for the information of the conterence statistics referring to the waste by the war, city and county debts, depreciation in the value of lands, decrease in the productiveness of the soil in various sections, failure of the crops, &c. These statements will be submitted to the creditors, and an appeal will be made for a readjustment of the debt on some plan which will enable the State to meet its obligations. - Balt. Am.

MILITARY TITLES.-The Salem Register says: - Since the close of the war the titles of "Colonel," "Major," "Captaio," &c., have been famillar terms to our people; but it must be disgusting to old soldiers to hear a man dubbed "Major" or "Colonel" who never fired a gun, and perhaps never saw a regiment or brigade in line of battle. Yet we find many of the papers of Virginia applying these terms to persons connected with railroads, the press, or engaged in some occupation which brings them before the public, when the fact is that the writers of these paragraphs know very well that there is not the first quality in their favorities which would recommend them as an orderly sergeant even of the State militia. Men of brains would scorn to wear an unmerited title, and one not conferred by a proper authority. It would doubtless be very painful to one of these paper "colonels" if he was interrogated as to the part his command took in the late war; he would no doubt feel like surrendering, as he, perhaps, was always ready to do if at any time he were brought face to face with the enemy. The newspapers that have adoptthis as a way of showing their friendship for their special favorites would perhaps render them a greater service if they would only confine themselves to the truth, and use the polite term "Mr."

The "Wicked Bible" was printed and issued in 1632. It derived its title from the fact that the word "not" was accidentally omited from the seventh commandment by one of the intelligent compositors of the period, and an act of which he is prepared to make up at reasonable Parliament ordered the destruction of the en- prices. tire edition.

DROTECT YOUR BUILDINGS! Which may be done with one-fourth the usual CAPENT SLATE ROOFING PARKT.

AGENTS WANTED IN EVERY TOWN.

A roof may be covered with a cheap shingle, and by application of this slate be made to last from 20 to 25 years. Old roofs can be patched and coated, looking much better, and lasting longer than new shingles without the slate, for ONE-TEIRD THE COST OF RE-SHING-

ONE-TEIRD THE COST OF RE-SHING-LING.

The expense of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them. The Paint is FIRE-PROOF against sparks or flying embers, as appears from the fact that Insurance Companies make nearly the SAME TARIFF AS FOR SLATED ROOFS.

For tin and iron it has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and never cracks nor scales. For fences it is particularly adapted, as it will not corrode in the most exposed places. Roofs covered with Tar Sheathing Felt can be made water-tight at a small expense. The Slate made water-tight at a small expense. The Slate

EXTREMELY CHEAP! Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, or over four hundred of tin or iron. NO TAR IS USED IN THIS COMPOSITION. On decayed shingles it fills up the holes and pores, hardens them and gives a new substantial pores, hardens them and gives a new substantial roof that will last for years. Curled or warped shingles it brings to their place and keeps them there. It fills up all holes in Tin or Felt roofs, and stops the leaks, one coat being equal to five of ordinary paint. The color of the Slate when first applied is dark purple, changing in about a month to a light uniform slate color, and it is, TO ALL INTENTS AND PURPOSES, SLATE.

SLATE. The Paint has a very heavy body, but it is easily put on, and although a slow dryer, rain will not affect it in the least one hour after applying. Orders respectfully solicited. All our Paints are mixed ready for use.
